The Annual Flower Show

The Ladies of the Presbyterian Church intend holding their Annual Flower Show in the Old House, Hall on Wednesday, August 14th. The Prize List will be the hands of the committee in a few days and will be mailed out to the citizens of the town and district. Anyone who does not receive a copy by mail and who is interested may obtain one from Mr. Brewerton at the Furniture Store. The list of prizes is large and varied and it is expected that this year will see the largest display of flowers ever cut together in Claresholm. If you are interested help to make it a success by getting an entry ready.

Womens Institute

The meeting of the women at the Parish Hall on Saturday last which was called by Miss MacAdams of the Department of Agriculture organized a Womens Institute in conjunction with the Demonstration Farm here failed to materialize on account of there not being a large enough attendance. On Monday another meeting was called for the same purpose but fell through for different reasons, chiefly because only a few of the women from the country who would receive the most benefit were on hand to see the thing through. Several ladies from town were present at this meeting and they were so under the impression that the proposed organization would in some manner succeed upon the work of the W. C. T. U. This is an entirely wrong impression to have and it is to be regretted that the Institute could not be organized. Had it been successful a school of Domestic Science would have been placed here and much good would have resulted. Last year a course in Domestic Science was held in the I. O. O. F. Hall for a few days and many good ideas were obtained by those interested. Had the Institute been organized it would have meant a six weeks course free of charge for those who wished to avail themselves of the opportunity.

However, it has been decided to try again by advertising the objects of the organization more thoroughly perhaps the next meeting will be a more representative one and the principals of the Institute more fully understood. Cor- respondence has been taken up with Miss MacAdams by those interested with a view of having her try once more to get the organization going here.

Choral Society Reorganized

At a meeting of several of the old members of the Choral Society at the home of Mrs. Steves it was decided to reorganize for the present year and to that end officers were chosen and committees appointed to carry on the work. Mr. J. F. Miller was chosen as President and Mr. J. S. Book as Secretary. Treasurer, while Mr. W. G. Moffatt as Conductor will have charge of the musical end of the program. It was decided that the society should put on a small opera or a play in the program and the musical parts have been sent for. When the different parts for this program arrive notice will be given out for a meeting and it is the wish of the committee in charge that any one who is willing to take part in the cast should wait for the notice and come forward with their help. They do not wish to have our citizens feel that a written invitation to join in with the society is necessary but wish that interested will make their presence known. The success of this society in the past should help to make the program for this year one of great interest and should draw out any hidden talent the town may possess towards this end.

Does Dairying Pay?

The following article is the first of a series on the subject of Dairying which will appear in the Review from time to time and as they are from the pen of Mr. W. T. Rieby who has had many years experience along this line they will be read with interest by the farmers of this district. Mr. Rieby was one of the few farmers who put forth every effort to get a creamery for this place and his experience in all branches of Dairying makes him especially well qualified to give advice to those who wish to enter into that field of labor in which Mr. Rieby says, "the eggs are not all in one basket" - mixed farming.

The question presents itself to every farmer, does it pay to keep cows? Some after trying it for a year or two say no and of course keep no more than one or two to supply their own table, while others claim that it is money in the long run. The first difficulty seems to be the summer pasture for the cows. That can be had by sowing Bromus grass Western Ryegrass two acres of which of a normal season will furnish pasture for one cow. This has been demonstrated by the writer. Two acres more in roots and oats will furnish her feed for the balance of the year. Making four acres for the maintenance of one cow.

What is the income? No one should be satisfied with a cow which gives less than a pound of butter fat per day.

When we consider there are plenty of cows that give two pounds and some as much as three and a half pounds of butter fat a day, this is apparent. That means thirty pounds a month - which at present prices is seven dollars and fifty cents per month for each cow. And with proper care she will continue to give this for at least ten months of the year - making an income of seventy-five dollars from the four acres - saying nothing of the pigs and calf which can be raised on the skim milk. Now if a man would sow forty acres to clover and roots, he can keep twenty cows and if they only average a pound of butter fat a day and they should average a pound and a half this will give him an income of one hundred and fifty dollars a month or fifteen hundred dollars for the ten months, besides the calves and pigs which can be raised on the skim milk.

By having the calves come in October and November the cows will give more milk for the year than if they are fresh in the spring - besides there is the higher prices of the winter months for butter.

This gives a regular income. Not so entirely dependent on weather conditions - where one night frost or a few nice days will ruin the prospects of a year's income.

A Successful Summer School

A most successful Summer School has been conducted at Seba Beach, on Lake Wabamun, 50 miles west of Edmonton. About 35 students attended the School, studying a Bible Course, Religious Educational Methods, Sociology, and Missionary Themes. A decided interest was taken in all the study classes.

The same type of School will be conducted at Banff, beginning Aug. 7th. Indications now point to a large attendance at this School. Students who attend school purchase a one-way ticket, and obtain Standard Certificate. It is also advisable that those who can make it convenient should take with them tent and bedding for accommodation. The Sunday School Association have tents with cots and bedding for about 80 people, and will provide for every one in camp.

Further information may be obtained from the office of the Alberta Sunday School Association, Calgary.

Claresholm Items

The Excelsior Mission Circle will hold an open house in what was formerly Johnston's Drug Store, Milnes Block, between 10 and 11 o'clock every afternoon and evening of Saturday August 3rd. Come and buy an apron.

The local W. C. T. U. has through its department of flowers and fruit arranged to send a box of flowers to the hospital at Calgary or Lethbridge each week during the coming season. Any person wishing to contribute to this work will kindly send their flowers to the home of Mrs. Dr. Steves on Thursday of each week and they will be duly forwarded.

The Council met last Thursday evening but very little work was on hand. Some correspondence received, their attention. It is believed now that Mr. Breckenridge will do something about the pipe line in the near future. The dam at the creek has been thoroughly rebuilt and is thought to be in fine shape at present. The same work being finished council adjourned.

Mr. L. A. Parry of the Vancouver Milling and Grain Co. returned Tuesday from an extended trip through Manitoba and Saskatchewan in the interests of the firm he represents. Mrs. Parry accompanied him on the trip and is now visiting her mother at Carleton Place, Man. Mr. Parry will be in the home this week and will look over this district with a view of locating here.

The mail trains on the Grand Trunk which run through the town of Stony Plain have been reduced from one day to three per week. The feeling over this act of the R. R. Co. resembles the color of the southern railroads which have reduced their train service evidently entered the snout of the Advertiser office while the "devil" was off his guard - and he has been causing it to change its dirty skin to a more blue. Anyhow the last edition of that lively rag came out printed in blue ink, in keeping with the feelings of the citizens.

At a meeting of the Presbytery of High River held in Graman on July 16th, among other communications read the clerk was one received from Rev. C. H. Hendrick of Red Deer, Alta., Secretary of the Lords Day Alliance for Alberta in which it was stated that the Attorney General of the Province was in hearty sympathy with the provisions of the Lords Day Act and was determined on its enforcement. Mr. Hendrick intimated that notice of any infractions of the act sent to him, would be forwarded immediately to the Attorney General for action thereon. Judging from the prompt action and salutary results from last years experience with the Attorney General's department Sabbath Day law breakers will not care to have a second interview.

H. DUNCAN, Editor.

It is a source of satisfaction that in the getting up of our fair, which is undoubtedly the best for a town of this size in Alberta, the farmers and townspeople have worked hand in hand with much enthusiasm. The grounds will soon be fixed up and all will be ready and only one thing will remain to finish the arrangements and that is liberal subscriptions. The editors will be around next week and it is hoped that everyone who is interested in the Fair will be sure not to pass them by. The grounds are still in debt and if there is any profit from the Fair it will go to this end to improve them. Grounds have also sent 555 for their Fair so we should do as well or better.

Considerable interest is manifest in the agriculture line as the time for annual fair draws near. Many farmers who in the past failed to become sufficiently interested to make up exhibits have signified their intention to be to the front with prize winners. This is more as it should be. The Agricultural Fairs held throughout the Province have always been of great help to the farmers, manufacturers and merchants as well as to the public at large and as time passes they have become more and more useful in their field of usefulness. It is the duty of all to make the home Fair successful, not only from a standpoint of education but it is a duty one owes to the district in which he lives to bring out the best in all lines of domestic culture for advertising purposes. Clareholm district has earned an enviable reputation already along this line and let us uphold it.

After the rain which is not wanted we ought to have good weather which is wanted for the crops and incidentally two fine warm days for the Fair. It is right to again remind all interested that Monday is the day when the grounds are to be fixed up. The Directors of the Park Association have definitely decided that no automobiles or motor cycles are to be allowed on the racing track and two function gates are to be erected which will improve the grounds, one at the entrance gate and one at the gate on the track. Word has been received from the Millerville and Okotoks districts that about a dozen racing cars and horses will be down. The following race officials have been appointed. Judges S. De Ruyz and another not yet selected as Mr. Daily of Drum is going on a holiday. Timekeepers, Messrs D. Steeves and C. N. Booth; Starter for harness races J. Robertson; Starter for runners, D. J. Kauborn; Clerk of sales C. W. James; Announcer, J. T. Kingsley; Clerk of the course J. R. Watt. Mr. Watt will go to Macleod Fair next week to arrange as to midway attractions and meet some exhibitors and horsemen. The arrangements for the gate will be in the competent hands of Mr. P. E. Hood as last year.

Viking Farmers Stung

Probably nothing funnier could be found outside of a pile loan than the stories told by complaining farmers against E. D. Ross and Samuel Fairdale, pseudo stock inspectors brought down from Viking and now awaiting trial at the Fair.

According to one witness, Thomas Go-To-Bed, or some name which sounded like that, Fairdale and Ross arrived at his employer's farm and after looking over his cattle and horses he collected $3.25 for inspection. At another farm Ross, who was apparently the leader, took out a "thermometer" and put it in the leg's meat and called out "hot", the next he gave the number "267" though it is extraordinary that one fixed "thermometer" in this manner. Ross also stopped several of the horses' heads. Still more ridiculous was the man's actions in another place where he would place his ear to the back of the head in some cases marking "sandy" in others "normal". But the crowning piece of the whole was when which this man would upon the farmers was his inspection of a pig pen. One of the farmer's fine porkers had a scold upon its eye. Questioned Ross informed the owner that the pig was "suffering from discharges" and forth with brought out a little pill with instructions to dissolve same in water and wash the animal's eye with same.

These are only a few of the big bunch of ridiculous incidents marking the career of Ross and Fairdale. These men also posed as doctors and gave much weighty advice to worried homeowners and forth with brought out a little pill with instructions to dissolve same in water and wash the animal's eye with same.

PAPER MONEY.

It Was First Issued by Count de Tendilla at Alhambra.

The Count de Tendilla, while besieged by the Moors in the fortress of Alhambra, was destitute of gold and silver wherewith to pay his soldiers, who began to murmur as they laid out the means of purchasing the necessities of life from the people of the town.

"In this dilemma," says the historian, "what does this most sagacious commander do? He takes a number of little morsels of paper on which he inscribes various sums, large and small, and signs them with his own hand and name. These did he give to the soldiers in earnest of their pay. 'How,' you will say, 'were soldiers to be paid with scraps of paper?' Even so, and well said, too, as I will presently make manifest, for the good count issued a proclamation ordering the inhabitants to take these morsels of paper for the full amount inscribed, promising to redeem them at a future time with gold and silver. This by subtle and most ingenious Alhambra did this extraneous worthless paper into precious gold and silver and make his late impoverished army abundant in money."

The historian adds, "The Count de Tendilla renewed his promises like a royal intent, and this miracle, as it appeared in the eyes of the worthy Alhambra, is the first instance on record of paper money."

GETTING UP STEAM.

A Young Engineer's Answer to a Gruff and Persistent Examiner.

A bright young fellow came up for the cadet engineers' examination at Alhambra one day, and the judges asked him the usual questions, which he answered readily enough until one gruff old fellow frowned at him and demanded:

"How do you say you proceed to get up steam?"

The cadet glibly described the process of building the fires, testing the water in the boilers and all that.

"And then?" snipped the examiner.

The young fellow twisted his eye in his hands and thought up a few more details.

"And then?" snipped the examiner once more, pursing his lips and looking as if something important had been missed.

The cadet did the best he could, stily adding such details as that he would shut the furnace doors after putting the coal in. The moment he stopped the same old question burst out:

"And then?"

"And then," repeated the cadet slowly, raising his cup to his breast and gazing at the ceiling, "and then I should look up to heaven and think I am ready to go home if the boiler front comes out."—New York Sun.

Hoaxed the Book Collectors.

Some years ago a cruel hoax was played on the orders and orders of bookshelves' catalogues. A number of well known book lovers in France and Belgium received a catalogue of a library to be sold at Blois, a small town near Paris. There were only 202 items in the catalogue, but all these were unique examples, for it was announced, "the late owner, M. de Fortas, would destroy any book in his collection if he ascertained that another copy existed." The catalogue, as may be imagined, caused a sensation in the book world. On the day appointed for the sale swarms of collectors, including representatives of several national libraries, descended on Blois, only to find that the Fortas and his biblioid library were myths.—London Chronicle.

One of One Half Dozen of the Other.

One of the most discouraging features of life in Tripoli, in other Mohammedan countries, is the condition of the veiled, fatalistic women. These of the richer classes live in seclusion, the poor in even more degrading conditions. A missionary for whom the wife of a minister was preparing supper noticed that the set aside in a furrow way a small part of the tea and sugar.

"Why do you do that?" was asked.

"Oh," said the woman, "I must provide against the day when my husband may divorce me."

She then made the startling announcement that she was her husband's sixth wife and that she was her sixth husband.—Christian Herald.

Courage in Elephants.

An elephant with a good mouthful of straw perhaps the best instance of disciplined courage—courage, that is, which persists in the face of knowledge and disinclination to be seen in the animal world. They will submit day after day to have painful wounds dressed in obedience to their keepers and meet danger in obedience to orders, though their intelligence is sufficient to understand the peril and far too great for man to trick them into a belief that it is no peril. No animal will face danger more readily at man's bidding.—London Spectator.

Careful.

He would have uttered her in a warm embrace, but she was not his.

"What?" she said imperiously.

"You cross my heart?" he protested.

"Better by heart," she answered.

"That my gown."—London Tit-Bits.
